

ICISF Assisted Individuals in Crisis (Peer Support)

December 10th & 11th, 2022
8790 "F" Street, Omaha, NE
8:30 am—3:30 pm both days

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Crisis Intervention is NOT psychotherapy; rather, it is a specialized acute emergency mental health intervention which requires specialized training. As physical first aid is to surgery, crisis intervention is to psychotherapy. Thus, crisis intervention is sometimes called "emotional first aid". This program is designed to teach participants the fundamentals of, and a specific protocol for, individual crisis intervention.

TARGET AUDIENCE

This accredited continuing education activity is designed for nurses, first responders (ie. EMS, Fire, law enforcement, dispatch, corrections, EMA) psychologists, and other health care professionals involved in emergent management.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of this activity, the participants should be better able to:

- Discuss the importance of psychological crisis intervention (PFA) and how it identifies the "psychological toxicity" of a critical incident/ disaster.
- Describe the roles involved in Critical Incident Stress Management (CISM) throughout the continuum of care.
- Identify the risks of iatrogenic "harm" associated with psychological crisis intervention and how to reduce those risks.
- Review research relevant to the practice of psychological crisis intervention.
- Articulate common psychological and behavioral reactions of someone in crisis and effective strategies or tools to improve listening and communication based on the SAFER-R model.
- Apply key concepts and steps in the SAFER-R model of individual psychological crisis intervention/ PFA for suicide intervention.
